why blops can't just pick one story idea

Yes, we did it! It took the blops all of Sunday, but they finally made a decision... And it was unanimous. They chose to not only choose one of your suggested story ideas, but three of them! When they informed me about their resolve to pursue more than just one story idea for our attempt at a multi-picture continuous story during the coming Sketch Fest from April 14th through April 16th... I was tempted to bring up the issue of prioritizing... Well... I didn't. They were so excited and I do see it... the story arc: Football (soccer ;D) meets love story... And it all happens in the city that never sleeps. - We asked for a challenge and we got one with a vengeance. I really hope the blops know what they are doing... I, for one, will have to sit down, now, to pack three blopdotink Easter Surprise Packages for those three lucky people who suggested these story ideas. Congrats & let us know how you like your gifts! BTW: The blops want to see the whatevers that your soon to be triggered creative outbursts result in. Have fun!

The blopdotink Easter Surprise Package - Happy Colouring!
